

July
13,
2011

Today's camp activities

Yesterday we went to our karate day camp. I earned a black belt badge. I made a scarecrow for Mommy. It was a girl scarecrow. It had blue and purple flowers on it. Alternately I could have made a yellow fish. We also played a game where a person holds a piece of wood.

We had to kick it to break it. I didn't break such a thick piece of wood. I did have fun. I broke it in only one kick! Anya broke a piece of wood too. Then we practiced our punches. Next, Ciara's Mom picked us up. We had fun.